

ECG Interpretation Service

We are delighted to offer the Bee ECG as part of our comprehensive diagnostic service. This is an intuitive tablet-based ECG system, with automatic cloud-upload (subject to Wifi) and immediate online ECG review from any PC or Mac. You can also download and store digital reports or share with the HeartVets cardiologists for an expert interpretation.

The tablet comes with pre-loaded software, ECG device and accessories, and a quick-start guide. Technical support is included with repair or replacement as needed, as well as a cloud account for the whole practice.

Subscribers to our ECG interpretation service receive the ECG kit for free*. Expert help can be requested via the tablet at the time of recording, or through our website: heartvets.co.uk

The ECG interpretation fee of £45 + VAT can be incorporated in your compound ECG fee in the same way blood tests are charged. You can run ECGs with confidence and get a cardiologist interpretation when you need it, improving your in-house cardiology service and enabling your clients to receive referral-level cardiology within your practice.

**on the basis of a minimum of 2 ECG diagnosis requests per month*

When should I record an ECG?

- Any patient with an arrhythmia auscultated during a consultation, pre-anaesthetic check or during sedation/general anaesthesia. Making a rhythm diagnosis is key to case management.
- Any animal with a history of weakness or collapse/syncope.
- Dogs with a breed predisposition to dilated cardiomyopathy (DCM) or arrhythmogenic right ventricular cardiomyopathy (ARVC). ECGs are one of the first steps in a regular screening process, before echocardiography or Holter monitoring.
- Pre-anaesthetic checks in cats - cardiomyopathy is common in cats and ECGs can help identify significant disease before it's too late.

How can I join the ECG interpretation service?

- Complete our HeartVets Diagnostics service registration form to register your practice at the link below:
<https://heartvets.co.uk/diagnostics-service/>
- Email us to register your interest and one of our team will be in touch to discuss the next steps.

Can I purchase the unit outright?

Yes - the unit is available for purchase for £1500 + VAT, to include all equipment, software updates and cloud account (to allow upload, cloud storage and sharing) for one year. Ongoing cloud account subscription will then be offered on a yearly basis.
